

Readiness for BACP Accreditation

Providing Support & Knowledge

Friday 12th September 2025

This workshop has been developed for counsellors and therapists who wish to work towards gaining individual BACP accreditation with the Ethical Framework for the Counselling Professions in mind. This workshop will enable you to confidently manage the necessary steps that are required. It will remove the mystery around applying for accreditation and highlight some of the potential pitfalls and prepare you for a positive outcome.

The training delivery aims to be informative, interactive and creative.

We will aim to cover and / or discuss the following:

- ❖ Evidencing skills, training and knowledge
- ❖ Filling in the application form
- ❖ The necessary preparation
- ❖ Simplifying the process
- ❖ Describe “your” rational and therapeutic way of working from a personal standpoint
- ❖ Structuring the essays into bite size pieces (KSS!)
- ❖ Choosing an appropriate case study
- ❖ Application of theory to practice in a personal way
- ❖ Describing supervision input, learning and application
- ❖ Answering your unanswered questions

Our aim on this workshop is to support you with this process of applying for accreditation and to make the process digestible, including unleashing your own creativity to complete this task.

Workshop Facilitators:

Martin Chester & David Archard are both qualified and experienced counsellors and members of BACP. Martin is a BACP Accredited Counsellor who has supported many counsellors and supervisees to successfully complete this accreditation process.

Martin and David aim to provide a positive and supportive learning environment while honouring each participant's individual learning style and therapeutic approach.
